

6 Reasons Why DSPs Choose Oxlo

As a provider of automotive retail software solutions, Oxlo is trusted by dealers and Dealer Service Providers (DSPs) for its innovative and reliable integration services. Our platform simplifies the process of integration, certification, and support, ensuring a seamless experience for all our clients.

Oxlo's commitment to excellence is reflected in our comprehensive approach to DSP integration. In this infographic, we highlight 6 reasons why DSP's select Oxlo to provide the support and resources needed to streamline the process and ensure success.

Dedicated Integration Engineer

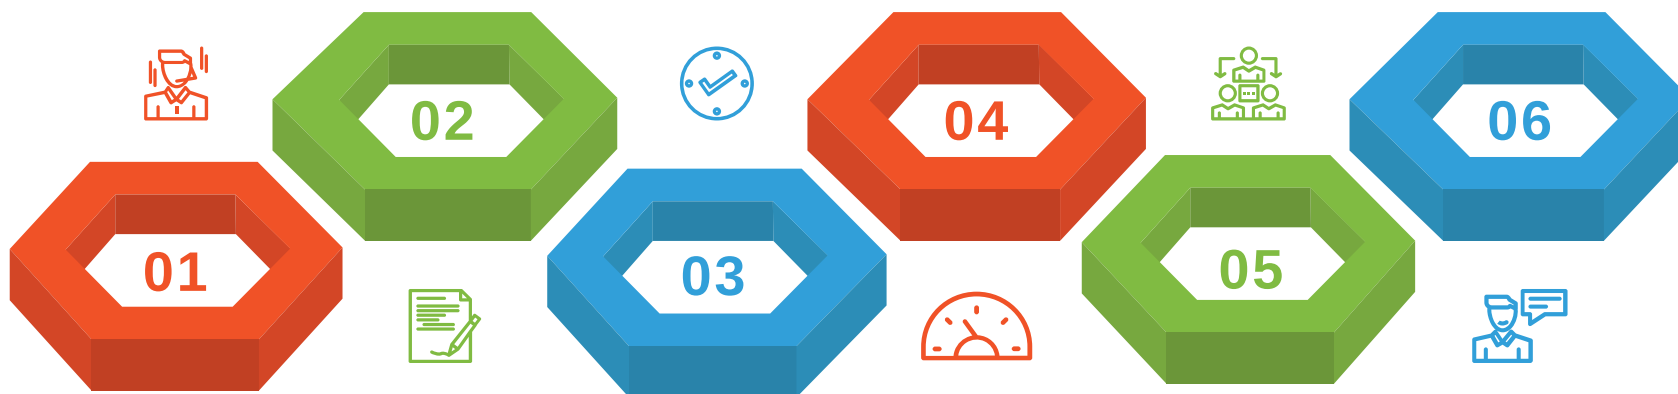

Our team includes a dedicated integration engineer who will guide you through every step of the integration process, providing expertise and personalized support.

Accelerated Certification

Through our Self-Service Integration platform, your team can test and receive real-time feedback 24/7. This system minimizes errors, accelerates the development phase, and shortens the time to certification.

Managed Services

Our 24/7 support services keep you informed, notifying you of system issues and working alongside you to maintain communication security, such as SSL certificates and tokens. Our centralized portal also helps manage dealer deployments and track certification progress.

Professional DSP Specifications

We provide clear, easy-to-follow field-level and business-level specifications, all housed in a centralized location for your convenience.

Rigorous Testing

Oxlo ensures data accuracy and comprehensive functionality through thorough testing against a detailed certification plan.

Continuous Support

With Oxlo, you can expect consistent communication and support throughout the integration process and beyond, ensuring long-term success.

Choose Oxlo for Your DSP

Oxlo's integration services are designed to offer a seamless, secure, and efficient experience for DSPs. Our dedicated support and resources ensure that your systems work flawlessly, helping your business grow with minimal disruptions. Choose Oxlo for a reliable and efficient integration solution that supports your needs at every step.